

If it sounds too good to be true, it probably is. The solar industry's explosive growth has created real opportunities for homeowners to save money and reduce their carbon footprint. But it's ...

Con artists use misleading sales tactics and lies to trick homeowners out of money and personal information. If you've received an offer for "free solar panels," it could be a scam. Always...

As solar energy adoption grew, dishonest companies exploited incentives, tax credits, and financing programs. In fact, complaints involving solar panels continue rising nationwide, showing ...

To avoid getting scammed, you need to know what to look out for and when to walk away. Here's our guide to spotting solar panel scams and finding a great installer.

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar programs for households that qualify, "going solar" isn't free. Honest businesses will tell you exactly how much it'll ...

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading...

In this type of scam, fraudsters lure homeowners by offering "free" solar panels, claiming that government programs or grants will cover the entire cost of installation. While incentives such as ...

POWER To start using solar power for your home, consider your options. You might have choices that include buying or leasing a solar energy system, signing a power purchase agreement, or ...

Solar panels, typically mounted on rooftops to maximize sunlight exposure, are often misconceived as a risk to roof integrity. However, there's minimal risk of damage with a professional ...

The three most common solar scams are so-called free solar panels, requests for detailed personal or financial data right away, and misleading contracts.

Web: <https://black-hat.co.za>