

While you are browsing solar power companies, one of them may offer to install a solar panel or solar roof in your home for a small cost or even for free. It's an intentionally misleading...

No information about the cost to remove or transfer solar panels, which could lead you to believe you have future options that might not be available or affordable

If you've been approached by someone offering to install solar panels at no cost or promising you'll never have to pay another electricity bill, be careful--it's likely a scam."

Scams are unfortunately common in the solar industry. Learn more about some of the most likely scams you may face when trying to go solar.

In July, Connecticut Attorney General William Tong sued SunRun, and two smaller companies it worked with, alleging deceptive, unfair and illegal sales of solar power systems.

As solar grows in popularity, more scammers are targeting consumers. Here are three common solar scams to look out for, how to avoid them and how to report solar scams.

If the caller doesn't know your account number and you have any doubt the caller is a National Grid representative, or if they have any questions about account balance and fish for help, take charge ...

These scams start with an unexpected phone call, message on social, or even an in-person visit. The so-called official offers you an "energy audit" to reduce your utility costs. Or they might try to sign you ...

Everything you need to know to avoid a solar panel scam and what to do if you feel you've been a victim of predatory solar companies.

Scammers across the U.S. are going door-to-door, pitching "free" solar energy systems. Many homeowners never get any solar equipment installed; those who do often get shoddy work. ...

Web: <https://black-hat.co.za>